

Equality and Rights Network EaRN

The Equality and Rights Network EaRN was set up to enable any group, forum, organisation or individual to work in partnership with public services to advance equality, promote human rights, and to tackle inequality and poverty.

Our focus is your voice.

Have your say by becoming a member of EaRN today.

Did you know that EaRN works across four different areas, to make #EdinburghForEveryone?

Raising awareness We raise awareness about equality and rights, through our digital communications, giving talks, holding events and making resources available to our members.

Community Engagement Our volunteer Equalities Ambassadors can visit community groups and projects, and facilitate discussions and workshops; and we regularly hold our own events so we can hear what you have to say on certain topics.

Research Our Equalities Ambassadors spend time researching key equality and rights issues and current affairs. We also make sure we focus on 'real world' research, i.e. finding out what issues are affecting the people of Edinburgh right now.

Dialogue We offer the opportunity for dialogue with key public sector representatives on particular issues, and feedback information we gather through events, conversations and surveys. We aim to make sure that your voices are being heard by the right people.
