Volunteering can help you build new skills, meet new people, boost your confidence and it could even improve your health and wellbeing. If you are looking for a route into paid employment, volunteering can enhance your CV, providing you with work experience and up to date references. If you're considering volunteering, this free fair is a fantastic opportunity to meet face to face with dozens of organisations from across the city that you can speak to directly and who are currently looking for volunteers. The fair will also feature a friendly café to relax and refresh in.
